

Building on My Strengths

Developing your leadership skills takes practice, practice and more practice! Take a look at My Leadership Skills worksheet and choose one skill that you checked off – this is one of your strengths. When you are building your skills, it is important to invest at least half your time on building your strengths.

Use this sheet to come up with an action plan to build on one of the strengths that you already have!

The leadership skill I want to develop is: _____

What things do I need to learn/practice?

Who can help me develop this skill & how can they help me?

Who can give me feedback on how I'm doing?
